

More on Healing

11-23-2018

Simply because ALL who birth as human experience complete memory loss of all they knew prior to doing so, all humans forget their true identity and why they are expressing as human.

When the individual reaches a point of healing (a high enough vibration rate) the forgotten truth can begin to turn back on to the awareness of the individual. It is a process of "regaining your memory". All will regain memory of the truth. If the memory does not return during the human experience it will instantly as soon as the human experience completes.

All of the information within Ascension Whispers is offered to assist humans to regain their memory while still expressing as human.

The truth is held within a base 12 frequency rate / vibration rate. To birth as human means to birth into a base 10 frequency rate / vibration rate. Just as it is not possible to access an FM radio station within an AM radio wave, it is not possible to access base 12 frequency bands within base 10 frequency bands.

Were creation not a base 12 system there would not be 12 numbers on the face of human's clock nor would there be 12 months in a yearly cycle.

Yet, science tells humans that all of the energy / radiation they can detect, and have named the electromagnetic spectrum of radiation, is a base 10 system. This is because of the vibration rate humans, who co-create the base 10 waves of radiation within their selves. It is a result of human consciousness falling in vibration due to fragmenting which creates a loss of energy within the fragmented consciousness.

Simply because all who birth as human forget the truth of self and creation, humans can only know creation based on the human experience. They then believe that all of creation must adhere to the way humans experience it.

Creation does not stop being a balanced, base 12 system simply because expressions of Source may fragmented and fall in vibration. Fragmenting and falling in vibration is actually quite common and is a result of free will, which means to experiment in the co-creation process.

Humans feel cut off from creation, even wondering if there exists life outside of earth. This is a result of falling in vibration, not because truth is hidden from humans, or humans are cast aside and being punished for something. Source love ALL of ItSelf Eternally! Truth does not hide! Truth is Eternal because Source is Eternal.

All humans are coded with the truth as all humans are individual identity expressions of Source (face of Source). All of creation is coded with the truth of self and creation. How much awareness and thought / expression of Source can have is dependent on the amount of Source energy turned on within the thought.

All humans hold the truth coded within them, it is simply turned off as a result of the energy of Source turning off within them as a result of fragmenting and falling in vibration, creating loss of energy. It simply needs to be turned back on to the awareness of the human expression. Doing so naturally occurs as the human expression re-accretes energy and returns to a base 12 vibration rate.

Birthing as human means to step part of your personal Source energy down to a low enough vibration rate to put that part of your energy into the thought code science calls human DNA.

As long as you are expressing as human, the code you inherited at birth is the "script" for your human life experience. You DO NOT have to accept your inherited script as the destiny for your human life experience. You are an expression of Source and you can "change" the script simply by changing the thoughts you focus your energy into (think about). Focusing your energy into thoughts turns them on within you for you to experience. The way to turn off thoughts is to stop focusing your energy into them (to stop thinking about them). Thoughts that are accepted as truth create "belief systems" and humans have created many false belief systems which are passed on to each next generation who birth with complete memory loss of truth. You do not have to accept the beliefs of those who birthed before you! Yes, you may be considered as different, or even a rebel, within the controlled belief systems of the earth paradigm, but ONLY YOU are creating your human life experience and ONLY YOU can recode your human DNA.

Human DNA holds distorted coding of the family of human consciousness that fell to such a low vibration rate to become the viruses that have made all humans sick since that point in time of the human expression. See the History of Humans Series for more understanding. ALL dis-ease that humans experience (physical, emotional, mental, spiritual) are the result of the distorted virus coding in human DNA.

Human consciousness is missing energy and part of the energy humans are missing is the part of their selves that fell to become viruses. The virus coding in human DNA is the so called "sins of humans".

The human life experience is a "healing mission". It is about you, Source, stepping part of your energy down in vibration to collect the part of yourself that fell in vibration, raise it back up in vibration, and back into balance within your Source mind.

Birthing into human DNA is the process of birthing into distortion to heal the distortion. No human is immune to distortion in human DNA. All humans are faces of Source working to heal the distortions in human DNA. Your personal Source expression is only responsible to heal your personal human DNA.

A human genetic line means the SAME distorted human DNA code passed to each generation in the genetic line. A human genetic line is the result of fragmentation. All of those of your human genetic line, past, present and future are of your original, non-distorted, divine code. Your fragmented code is spread out within the human population.

Healing that occurs within any human expression that holds the fragmented pieces of an original, non fragmented code, allows for healing to occur within the entire code, of all generations, past, present and future because it is the SAME code. That is why it only requires a critical mass of humans to reach a high enough vibration rate to purge the entire distorted virus coding from the collective of humans.

Because the original non fragmented codes are spread out within the collective, people can experience the same thoughts at the same time, uniquely within their self. That is why someone on one side of the planet may come up with an invention at the same time someone on the other side of the planet does. It is why people can "feel" the emotions of people on the other side of the planet they have never met, or do not know.

It does not matter what the distorted experiences in your genetic line have been. It does not matter who did what to whom, or the terrible experiences humans historically create, the NOW moment is all that matters as that is where your focus of attention lies and is where your power to create lies.

Some people think that they must wait for healing to occur until more people experience healing. If you think such, you are not using your power to create healing, instead, you are accepting the inherited script in your DNA as the fate of your human life experience. It is in the NOW moment that the future moments of experience are created. The choices you make in the now moment will determine what you experience in your future moments. That is the "joy" of "inheriting" human DNA. You, Source, can change human DNA just by thinking. Each next generation is of a higher vibration rate than each previous generation. You can ONLY be responsible for healing yourself but you can assist to heal ALL of yourself by healing yourself.

Science, and modern medicine, have falsely convinced part of human consciousness that humans should not get sick or die. Such false beliefs are the result of forgetting the truth of self and the truth of expressing as human, as are all of the false beliefs humans have created.

Not only have humans forgotten that humans are supposed to get sick, they have also forgotten what true healing means. Releasing from human DNA - dying, is the process of reaching a high enough vibration rate to release from the distortion and carry the distortion collected back up in vibration, and back into balance within mind.

If healing of a specific issue occurs during the life experience it is because the distortion creating the issue was able to be purged from human DNA during the life experience. Such requires reaching a high enough vibration rate to purge the distortion.

Some distortions require more of your higher energy than others, to purge them, and return them to balance. Continuing to step your higher energy down to purge the distortion can increase your vibration rate at a faster rate of speed which can lead to releasing from human DNA at a faster rate of speed. That is what occurs with so called incurable diseases. They are not incurable! They simply require more of your higher energy to return them to balance than you can step down into human DNA. The cure for incurable diseases is to release from human DNA.

Newly discovered diseases are not new, they are simply virus coding that had not previously been turned on within human DNA, or have not yet been purged.

So called junk DNA is not junk. It is fragmented coding / turned off coding, as a result of human consciousness fragmenting and falling in vibration. As each generation works to merge the fragmented coding back together, it can then be turned back on, when a high enough vibration rate is reached to spark it and turn it back on. That is what the thoughts offered for consideration within the material of Ascension Whispers are designed to assist with. Turning back on dormant DNA coding is what allows for Ah-Ha moments of understanding or seeing something in a totally different way than ever seen before.

A faster method of turning back on dormant human DNA coding is to focus on filling yourself with the feeling of love. Love is the feeling of balance. Love is the highest vibration rate of your Source energy. The vibration rate of love can spark human DNA to turn it back on.

When a critical mass of the original code is turned back on it will override distorted virus coding, turn it off, and allow it to be purged from human DNA.

The "wise choice" is to purge the distorted virus coding "before" it turns on to then experience. This is why it is so important to teach children truth and give them the opportunity to re-program their inherited human DNA before distorted coding turns on for them to experience.

Most human parents desire for their children to have a better human experience than they feel they did. They may believe the way to do so is to protect them from all harm, shower them with material objects, or hide truth of terrible experiences from them. None of those things will keep the coding in their human DNA from turning on. Once the body form stops growing a massive amount of the human DNA has been turned on. More distorted coding can still turn on later in life, if it is not purged before it does.

Source is, will and always has been working to heal humans. Humans have simply forgotten the truth of healing and that they are Source, as a result of what needs to be healing, and the healing process.

Loving Joy Blessing to ALL,

Marie Love
